Lab Work -01

1: Heading and Introduction

Use an h1 element to display the name of your favorite movie and the year that it was released. The year it was released should be placed in parentheses and emphasized using an appropriate semantic element. Below the name of the movie, in a paragraph, describe why this is your favorite movie.

2: Storyline section

Use an h2 element to display the “Storyline” subheading. Use one or more paragraphs to give the storyline of the movie. Add a horizontal rule at the end of the storyline.

3: Cast section

Use an h2 element to display the “Cast” subheading. Use a paragraph or two to say something about the star(s) of the movie--anything you care to say about them. Use list elements to list the real names of the main characters of the movie and the names of the characters they played. Add a horizontal rule at the end of the casts.

4: Embellish the introduction you gave in 1

Embellish the introduction you gave previously (in instruction 1) by adding the following information after your descriptive paragraph.

1. A short paragraph with a brief description of the movie.
2. Director, Writers, and Stars information, each captioned in a separate h4 element.
3. The details for each of these captions should be in regular text.

5: Add remaining sections

Use separate h2 elements to display each of the following subheadings, in order:

- Details
- Box Office
- Company Credits
- Technical Specs

Under each subheading provide the necessary information-- see

<http://www.imdb.com/title/tt4196776/> for an idea of the information you should add.

Use h4 elements to display the caption of key information like Country, Language, Release Date, etc. and regular text for the details (e.g., in paragraph or span elements). Add a horizontal rule at the end of each section.

6: Conclusion

When you finish your task, you will have something like this-

Jason Bourne (2016)
